

Ancient Future guitar-sitar jugalbandi

Matthew Montfort

One of India's finest classical artists, described as the "Jimi Hendrix of the sitar" by L'ORIENT LE JOUR, Beirut

"Conjures lovely Asian zither-like inflections with a scalloped fretboard guitar" —GUITAR PLAYER MAGAZINE

Pandit Habib Khan

Ancient Future is the world's longest running band dedicated to the mission of the creation of world fusion music, with 14 different versions of the band drawn from 28 world music masters. This ensemble variation of the band has performed to rave reviews from Beirut, Lebanon, to the Mumbai Festival in India.

Jugalbandi (literally "tied together") is a North Indian duet with tabla accompaniment, in this case with unusual configuration of sitar with scalloped fretboard and fretless guitars.

The Guitar-Sitar Jugalbandi is accompanied by Arshad Syed (tabla)

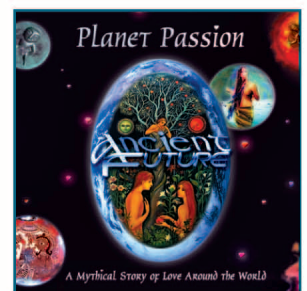

He also performs with the Zakir Hussain Rhythm Experience and top Indian classical musicians

*March 31, 2007, 8 p.m.
Larkspur Cafe Theatre
500 Magnolia Ave.
Larkspur, California.
Adm: $22 advance*

Tix: Larkspur Cafe Theatre Box Office,
online at www.larkspurcafetheatre.com,
or charge by phone at 415-924-6107

Released on Music Gallery India for their 2006 India Tour:

"Shamelessly beautiful, 'Planet Passion' is easily the pinnacle of this group's long career." — Bob Tarte, THE BEAT

More info: ancient-future.com • Video: ancient-future.com/jugalbandi.html